

The contemporary style of elegance renews in an evergreen look fine tuned to modern trends. And it all starts from details.

Blue plays the main role in the collection and also in the modern-classical shirts it comes out in a range of hues from traditional light blue to royal and denim blue.

Prints are the other main character of the season, with neckwear-style micro-patterns and multicoloured bloom patterns.

The main features confirmed in the path of the collection are washed models, and the emptied French collar, again offered as washed but ironed, to have a smart look even in the most casual style.

Play on contrast is applied also to materials. So noble fabrics are used for sporty or washed models, while those conceptually sportier renew the world of classical garments. This is the case of denim that is proposed as keeping a chicer attitude, more precise even with models closer to men who love a more informal way of dressing.

The collection also includes a range of polo-shirts that presently are an actual evergreen of Cit Luxury.
